

A SHORT TERM ORDER.

In Considerable Trouble and Its Funds in Bank Attached.

THE LOCAL MANAGER EXPLAINS

How the Claims Arose and That His Scheme was a Mistake, but not a Swindle—175 Cleveland Policy Holders the Sutors—A Bold Scheme Shown up.

Yesterday E. H. Eggleston, of Cleveland, an attorney-at-law, arrived in this city with a lot of claims against the Fraternity of Financial Co-operation, a concern that has been doing a flourishing business in six-month endowments in room 2 in the Reilly block. Mr. Eggleston at once consulted with Erskine & Allison, and with them as co-counsel, brought suit in chancery in the Circuit court for the amount of the claims, about $4,700. The suit is based upon the assumption that the concern had incurred fraudulent debts. Later, upon the ground that the Fraternity is a foreign corporation, an attachment was issued on $1,000 of the Fraternity's money in the hands of the Exchange Bank. A reporter of the INTELLIGENCER called at the office of Erskine & Allison and met Mr. Allison and Mr. Eggleston, but they both refused to talk about the matter, farther than to say that they represented policy holders in the Fraternity and that they had hopes that they would be able to make a satisfactory settlement without the matter going to court. They were anxious that nothing be said about it, the fear being that the publication of the details would make the Fraternity reckless and break up the chance of a settlement.

CAME FROM PHILADELPHIA. From other sources it was learned that the Fraternity formerly operated in Philadelphia under a New Jersey charter and was closed up by Judge Butler, he declaring the New Jersey charter insufficient to do business under in Pennsylvania. Charles Dillmer is Supreme Treasurer and E. Windell Lukens Supreme Secretary. The plaintiffs in the present suit hold that the corporation has no charter in West Virginia, and on the grounds of its being a foreign corporation were given attachment. Judge J. J. Jacob, the attorney for the Fraternity, says it has a charter in West Virginia and that he obtained it for the corporations.

A reporter called at the Hotel Windsor and had a talk with J. F. Fouse, the local head of the concern. He said that the Fraternity has been doing a strong business, and has paid out over $500,000 in matured certificates. The present trouble, he said, came about in this way: In Cleveland, O., the Fraternity had about fifty local branches, a branch being a number of members organized and employing a secretary to attend to its affairs. William Pate, a prominent politician, formed a branch, including in its membership a large number of business men. When the time came for the payment of the assessment due May 1st, Pate, a check for the amount was received in due time. The check was deposited in bank and after two days returned, Mr. Pate having stopped its payment. A letter was sent Mr. Pate asking why the check was dishonored, and he answered that his local branch had ordered him not to pay the assessment.

FORFEITED THEIR CLAIMS.

There were something over forty members in that local branch and all but a few of them allowed their certificates to lapse by non-payment of assessments. Some of the members sent their money as individuals to the Supreme Treasurer and are still in good standing. The members who refused to pay the assessments are the ones now suing. Mr. Fouse said they had no right to any money; no more than a man who forfeits a life insurance policy by non payment of premium. Mr. Fouse also stated that the plan of the association was a failure and that they were winding it up as rapidly as possible. They were paying $100 in six months for assessments amounting to $1. They had found that the number of lapses would not cover it, the time being too short. "It is a mistake and not a fraud," said Mr. Fouse, "and I am sure we will be able to pay out every certificate, but it will leave nothing. The Fraternity has been managed and operated on the most economical plan, but it will not pay the men who are at the head of it."

He further said that experience has shown him that an association that would call in $80 in assessments in a year and pay out $100, would pay nicely on the lapses and forfeitures and could be made to pay big. He said the Fraternity has paid out over $500,000 in the short time it has been in existence and still had a bank account of $7,000 a few weeks ago. Since then it has been paying out rapidly in the effort to wind up its affairs, and now has a credit of about $17,000. He thinks the Fraternity can pay off all the certificates it has out without the $4,700 now under attachment. He talked very pleasantly and said the concern would close up its affairs in another month, leaving no creditors.

THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Late last night a reporter met Mr. Eggleston and Mr. Allison, and found that their reasons for desiring to prevent publicity had vanished. They had a consultation with the "Fraternity's" chief backer, Mr. Lorin Chambers, of Philadelphia, and with his chief of staff, Thomas H. Hughes. These gentlemen were very indifferent to the state of affairs, and talked light. Mr. Eggleston therefore concluded to make all the information in his possession public—and he has enough documentary evidence to make a volume the size of a family Bible.

Mr. Eggleston said the claimants he represented indirectly were practically all the members of local division No. 80 of the Fraternity, and number about 175. They have assigned their claims to Daniel W. Harrison, in whose name the suit is brought. The amount claimed is $4,700, and the suit is based on the implied contract that money obtained by fraud will be returned. The suitors waive in each claim the right to sue for damages, and simply demand the return of the money each has paid in. Mr. Eggleston was surprised when told that ex-Judge Jacob had said that he obtained a charter for the concern at Charleston, and at once produced telegrams and letters from Secretary of State Olney and other officials at Charleston saying no such organization had been chartered.

WORKING OF THE ORDER.

The affidavit on which the attachment was issued recites that the Fraternity had its headquarters from about November 10, 1890, to about May 11, 1891, at 121 Market street, Philadelphia; that early in May the offices were removed to Wheeling; that the officers notified local divisions that this step was necessary under Judge Butler's decision, as to New Jersey corporations, and that it was announced at the same time that a West Virginia charter had been obtained, and "the affidavit says that it is not true that any charter was ever issued to said Fraternity by or under the laws of West Virginia."

It is further recited that the supreme officers constitute themselves a body to "fix their own salaries, levy assessments, adopt, amend and repeal the regulations and constitutional provisions of the order at will, by means of which they have been and are practically repudiating the obligations and contracts of the defendant to and with its members."

"By the scheme under which the defendant has been and is operating, it undertakes to pay its members $100 or $150 in one, four or six months, as the case may be, from dates of their certificates of membership, upon payment by them during said time of certain assessments, dues, etc. Said scheme of the defendant, as the defendant has all the time known and now does well know, is a fraud and swindle, and is and always has been wholly impracticable and incapable of performance on its part. The defendant by means of said false and fraudulent scheme and of certain false and fraudulent representations made to the assignors as to the nature and workings of said scheme, the character and objects of the order and the profits to be derived and received from it by them induced the said assignors to become members and to severally pay to the defendant the moneys mentioned. The plaintiff's assignors before they assigned their claims to plaintiff severally demanded the return of said moneys, which demands said defendant severally refused."

PECULIAR METHODS.

The way of working this order was to say the least peculiar. The members were induced to join on representations that for about $57 they would receive $100 to $150. Then the assessments were piled up. Mr. Eggleston has one circular levying four extra assessments of $1 each, all in June. Another levied $12 on all policies to expire by July 1 and $3 on all other policies. Another levied $50 on one "swipe," and if a man persevered till the end he would pay it more money than he could receive. If he dropped out he would forfeit all he had paid in. It is a sort of catch-em-coming-or-going scheme.

When a policy did mature, the holder had $20 lopped off for a "reserve fund," and lately in addition to this $30 more was deducted from the face value—just because the officers could.

The company has concluded to wind up its affairs, and offers certificate holders a chance to go into the "Star Tontine" company, of Philadelphia. A peculiar thing about this new company is that the same Mr. Fouse who has been running the "Fraternity" is the head of the "Star Tontine." Probably this is Mr. Fouse's $100-for-$30 scheme of which he told the reporter.

It is safe to say that before the Fraternity is done with its experience here the scheme will have received a death blow in Wheeling.

THE BISHOP'S JUBILEE.

A Meeting Last Evening to Further the Arrangements.

A PARADE TO BE GIVEN AT NIGHT.

The Societies That Will Compose the Pageant—Pontifical Mass in the Morning—Banquet at Noon—Reception in the Evening.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians held a meeting last night and completed the arrangements for the part to be taken by the order to-morrow, at the celebration of Bishop Kain's silver jubilee. The Hibernians have secured an immense amount of red fire and a quantity of fire works for the evening parade.

The festivities of the day will be opened at 9 a. m. by the celebration of pontifical High Mass, at the Cathedral. Rt. Rev. Bishop Kain will officiate, assisted by several visiting priests. The public in general, whether Catholic or non-Catholic, is invited to be present. There will be good music by a choir of thirty or forty picked singers. Ushers will be in attendance and will see that the public secure seats. Addresses will be made by members of the clergy, to which Bishop Kain will respond.

The banquet to the visiting and resident clergy will be given at noon. At half past seven in the evening a reception will be held in the convent hall. From the portico of the building addresses will be delivered, in English and German, by Mr. T. S. Riley and Mr. P. Donenberger, respectively.

The Knights of St. John come next, and will be followed by the Young Men's Society of St. Alphonsus church, who precede the St. Alphonsus society. The sodalities and other societies of St. Alphonsus church will take part in the parade, as will also the congregation.

The second division will be headed by the Heatherington band, of Bellaire. The societies of the Cathedral parish will march in the following order: Knights of St. George, Ancient Order of Hibernians, the members of the C. M. B. A., the Conference of St. Vincent de Paul, the sodalities and then the members of the congregation.

The third division, St. Mary's parish, will be headed by the Knights of St. Joseph. These will be followed by the sodalities and other societies of the church and members of the congregation desiring to take part.

The arrangements for the parade have only lately been made. Time was so limited that no special invitations could be sent out. Those having the matter in charge, however, issue through the newspaper a general invitation to any and all Catholic societies of Martin's Ferry, Bridgeport and Bellaire who would like to take part in the parade to do honor to the Bishop to attend. Arrangements will be made for places in the parade for any other societies.

Exercises in celebration of the jubilee will also be held in the music hall of St. Joseph's academy this evening, when a very pleasing and appropriate programme will be rendered.
